

R-S-I Your Partner

Close cooperation at all stages of a project, professional project management and individual training save our customers time and resources. Experience together with continuous support ensures the successful realization of individual needs. We help our customers to realize new ideas quickly.

From idea to product: the reliable partner at your side.

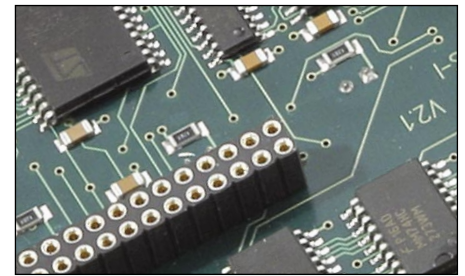

Design and Development

Our core competence. We design and develop individual hard- and software using our broad experience over many years. The continuous contact to and close cooperation with our customers allow us to address individual needs and to produce sustainable solutions. From the initial idea to the start of serial production we offer transparency, steady support and fast and flexible results.

Project Management

Professional project management is critical for the success of a design and development project. The experienced and dedicated employees at R-S-I know how to balance budget, time and quality. Our customers appreciate this reliability allowing them to keep their own budget and deadlines for the launch of a new product. This facilitates product innovations and gives our customers an edge over their competitors.

Manufacturing

We do our own manufacturing using up-to-date technologies and semi-automated production with SMD-pick-and-place machine, reflow oven and a wave and reflow soldering machine. These guarantee reproducible processes and constant quality. Automatic optical inspection (AOI) and fully automated electrical tests of each assembly group make sure that only high-quality products leave our plant.

When may we be of service to you?